THE ANELTO MOBILE MEDICAL

The Anelto Mobile Medical alert is designed for the senior who still enjoys their independence. Comprised of wearable and stationary location and environmental sensors, for monitoring and providing peace of mind for caregivers, seniors and others needing assistance in everyday and emergency situations.

In the event of an activation, you will never be alone. The user can communicate directly with our central station, giving critical location and status information. Once the device has registered with our central station, the caregiver can then access the wearers GPS location, as well as an immediate contact from our station.
